

Mobile Video coming to you...wherever you are

Published by Kyleon May 14, 2008 in Mobile TV/Video and News.
0 Comments

Dilithium, a multimedia delivery solutions provider, has announced the release of their Dilithium Content Adapter, which promises to automate real-time adaptation and delivery of video content over multiple networks to any device. The solution builds on the firm's existing 3G mobile video solutions, which boast customers in more than 50 countries covering 800 million subscribers, and also enables additional revenue streams like targeted ad insertion.

News via [Fierce Mobile]

<http://www.quicklybored.com/>